

PATRICK CONDON

Having been involved in cryptocurrencies since 2015, Patrick has witnessed a variety of interesting transformations. After being introduced to the space in 2013, he went from being a jaded skeptic to a student to researcher and investor.

Patrick began operating a consulting business focused on integrating blockchain technologies into existing business models for small and medium-sized businesses. Realizing there was a greater need to provide regular folks with a safe and secure way to buy, sell & store cryptos, Calix Solutions began building customized CryptoLaptops in January 2021.

Before starting Calix Solutions, Patrick worked in Marketing Management, product management, market analysis, accounting, and law enforcement. He holds a Master in the Science of Accounting and a Bachelor of Arts degree. Patrick grew up in Chicago and has lived in St. Louis for the last 25 years.
